

Offered by Marlite – Solid Veneer Lumber now available.

*Solid Veneer Lumber is the new contemporary look for Retail and Commercial Interiors. Marlite is now the exclusive distributor of SVL® (is a registered trademark of the Woodtrade F. Hecht GmbH, Germany)

Dover, Ohio- January 25, 2010 – Solid Veneer Lumber – A contemporary and modern look for today's interiors. S|V|L is the aesthetic choice to harmonize with contemporary construction materials such as glass, slate, marble, and metals. Attractive solid wood appearance offering a great new look for today's innovative interior designers. Because of the engineering process, S|V|L offers a natural wood working material comparable to solid woods. S|V|L is elegant yet environmentally conscience.

- S|V|L is an engineered wood product made from young North American Douglas Fir trees that are harvested under the US guidelines of SFI (Sustainable Forestry Initiative) and Canadian guidelines of CSA (Canadian Standards Associations).
- Strict forestry management practices are followed by replanting the harvested areas immediately along with the old growth trees protected from harvest.
- Due to the engineering process S|V|L is a stable product that offers great durability and excellent wear resistance.

Available in raw stock panels in the following configurations:

1/10" x 49 x 97 – veneer stock

1/2" x 49 x 97 on MDF core with balancing backer

3/4" x 49 x 97 on MDF core with balancing backer

S|V|L can be used for Retail Panels, Floor Fixtures, Perimeter walls, Cabinet doors, Flooring and Service Counters.

"Marlite is very excited about the opportunity to represent this unique product to the North American design community", says Brent Schilling, Director of International and Retail Sales at Marlite. "S|V|L durability and beauty make it an excellent addition to Marlite's already extensive product lines."
